Port, harbor get go-ahead as petition threats fizzle

"Are there any petitions to come before the board?" was the question asked solemnly three times by President Russell Elliott, before the board of supervisors moved toward validation of the 2.6 million dollar bond issue to finance second and final phase of the vast installation.

Elliott first instructed Sheriff Fred Curet to announce that the board was in session as of 10 a.m. Wednesday, in the Courthouse halls and offices.

When no petitions were presented, Supervisor J.C. (Peck) Mautray moved for the order to have the bond issue validated immediately, Joe Cuevas seconding the motion; the board voted aye unanimously.

Port Director Charles Hill announced that all necessary action had been completed by his board, and Gerald Gex, sitting in for County Attorney Joseph Benvenuti, absent due to the death of his father, asked that the meeting be recessed until 10 a.m. Monday, to allow Benvenuti to give final approval to legal processes.

Chamber of Commerce President Ames Kergosian first appeared with a request that a one-half mill allocation for chamber expenses be included in the supervisors' budget. He was assured that it would be taken under consideration when the millage is set on Sept. 16.

Fred Wagner, representing Main St. Methodist Church, read a letter signed by Hardin Shattuck, saying that at this time the church board can see no way financially feasible to sell the Main to Court St. property to the county, for courthouse offices, as had been discussed from time to time; adding that they were planning to begin educational buildings on the existing lots. High cost of other sites ruled out purchasing land for the purpose.

Sheriff Curet brought up certain changes in the courtroom necessitated by the fact that women jurors will be seated during the September session of court. He reminded them that there were restroom facilities in a second jury room, used for many years for storage only. He was asked to have recommendations prepared for presentation at the Aug. 21 meeting. Elliott announced the passing of Mr. Benvenuti's father.

Objectors censured

Technical errors to cost taxpayers more $$$$$$

The city's street paving program received a technical KO when Chancellor William G. Hewes denied commission council's petition for validation of $780,000 bonds to finance the program.

Ruling was made Friday in the Harrison County Court house at Gulfport, almost two weeks after a two-day validation hearing, usually a simple affair but complicated this time by a group of local objectors. At that time, Judge Hewes instructed attorneys for both sides to file briefs.

Friday's ruling was based mostly on technical errors in the minutes of the city Commission Council and in his opinion given before signing the decree, Judge Hewes in effect slapped objectors' wrists for apparently attempting to stop the street improvement program for political or personal reasons. He said the streets were in deplorable condition and needed to be fixed and that political conditions should not enter into it.

Although the chancery court reporter had not transcribed the opinion at press time, Hewes spoke favorably for the city's proposed issue but had to follow the letter of the law.

So now, the city fathers have to start all over. Mayor John A. Scatfield said Wednesday that "the city had rescinded all resolutions and other actions taken prior to the validation hearing and are now proceeding with the same intent and purpose, but with a few minor changes."

"I am disappointed but not discouraged by the ruling," he continued, "but it will not result in any appreciable delay in the street program. I have talked to a representative of the First National Bank of Memphis, Tenn., low bidder on the bond purchase at 4.66616 per cent, who said the bond market is better now than it was then, and at this time we might get an even better bid but added that conditions change from month to month and it would be impossible to estimate what conditions will be by the time legal advertisements and other necessary matters are completed."

City attorneys Sam L. Favre, Jr., and J. Ruble Griffin and Commissioner of Public Utilities and City Clerk J. Cyril Glover have already started the new proceedings and this week's Echo carries a lengthy resolution of the mayor and board of commissioners in its legal advertisements. This publication must be made in three consecutive issues, according to Mississippi statutes, and is the first step toward another validation hearing.

Michael D. Haas and Nicholas M. Haas are attorneys for the objectors, believed to be about 22 persons.

Excerpts from the final decree signed by Judge Hewes Friday are: "...the minutes of the City of Bay St. Louis did not show a motion was made, seconded or a vote taken concerning said Resolution and the only language regarding the adoption thereof was as follows: 'Passed by the Mayor and Board of Commissioners of the City of Bay St. Louis this, the 8th day of April, 1968'. This was the city's 'Resolution of Necessity'."

The decree states also "The Court holds that said provisions are mandatory and that the failure of said City to record the year and mays invalidated the Resolution of April 8, 1968, and because said Resolution is a fundamental, necessary precedent step to be taken by said City in order to be able to take the next step, that thereby all of the proceedings relative to the issuance and sale of said Special Improvements Bonds are null and void."

Regarding other objections the decree sets out "The Court finds as a matter of fact, that the city officials of the City of Bay St. Louis did inform the public and property owners of the City of Bay St. Louis, both through newspaper publication and in public meetings, that it would receive and file protests (Cont. on Page 9-A.)

Charles A. Russ, III, won the lot, first prize at St. Clare's Aug. 3-4 Church Fair. Max Giannelli was presented the love seat; Lloyd Surbeck, the console television set; J. Buhler, tires and Mrs. Clifton Salvant, paint.

Sound reverberations from captive firing of the sixth flight booster of the Apollo/Saturn V space vehicle at Mississippi Test Facility, were heard and felt in downtown Bay St. Louis for the full 125 second test period.

Heavily overcast weather conditions, combined with a steady drizzle in the area obviously contributed to sound direction. Similar blasts have here-to-fore caused little comment southeast of the site, Piquette residents, usually aware of at least a steady rumble, heard nothing during the Tuesday display, which was viewed by a large, and somewhat damp crowd.

The five rocket engines of the 138-foot-high stage, the S-IC-6, were ignited at 5:34 p.m.

Khayat speaker at C of C meet

What ports and harbors have meant to Jackson County will be the topic of Eddie Khayat's address at the third quarterly membership dinner meeting of Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Wednesday, Aug. 21.

Khayat, president of Jackson County board of supervisors, will give facts and figures about the millions of dollars realized in his county from these installations.

Happy hour will be from 6:30 to 7:30 at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club hosted by Terry Feeney Construction Company, Lamar-Lane Chevrolet and Shaw Supplies, Inc.

Dinner, featuring rolled veal recorded by General Electric technicians from the more than 800 measurements taken continuously during the test, indicated the stage performed satisfactorily. Extensive data on thrust, temperatures, vibration, pressures, fuel flow and the like will be evaluated in detail by NASA officials to verify flightworthiness of the stage before its water shipment to the Kennedy Space Center in Florida.

Cattle tests completed, no signs of Anthrax

Autopsies of two of 46 cattle found dead near Ansley last week, confirmed Dr. Wymon Stewart's field diagnosis of Pasteurellosis.

W.C. Grice, inspector for the state livestock and sanitary board, checked the Russ Island site with Russell Elliott, Beat 5, supervisor Thursday, Aug. 8, sending one extremely ill cow and one body to the laboratory of Dr. Vernon Chadwick, state veterinarian.

Grice also put the pasture under quarantine until all animals in the herd are pronounced in good health. It was learned that cattle received in a shipment from another Mississippi town about 30 days before first symptoms were noted had an intestinal virus. Lack of care and prompt burial of the stock, led to spreading of the virus by flies. This left them weakened and susceptible to Pasteurellosis.

Burial and liming on grounds were completed late Friday. John Smith, of the Hancock County Agents office, reports that study in the case continues in the lab, but absolutely no traces of Anthrax, Red Water or Black Leg were found. Accidental poisoning by mosquito control methods was also ruled out, as no pelleting was done in that pasture, nor in nearby swamps and bays.

Anyone who "jumped the gun" and had cows or horses injected with live Anthrax virus broke out in so doing. Charges may yet be filed in these instances. Owners of Anthrax injected cattle are warned that they are under 60 day quarantine, and not one head is to be moved or sold during the period. The live strain vaccine is deadly to humans as well as animals, and there is the possibility of a real epidemic if these instructions are not strictly obeyed.

$1000 raise approved for county teachers

Classroom teachers in the Hancock County school system were assured of their $1000 pay raise when the hike was approved at a meeting of the county school board at 7:30 p.m. Friday in office of Superintendent Eugene Ladner.

Charles Hill made the motion, which was seconded by Eugene Ladner.

That raise, part of the program in the teachers pay bill, passed in the prolonged 1968 state legislative session, affects only classroom teachers.

Larger salaries for administrative personnel, clerical, lunchroom and maintenance workers, and bus drivers were also included. Money for these will have to come out of the county's pockets, since the millage rate for the school system is set by the legislature up to the required seven mill total. A bond issue must be approved for the extra dollars.

The budget for the school year was approved, pending a few minor changes. Last staff vacancies were filled with appointments of five more faculty members.

Keep It Beautiful

If America hired people for the job, it would take the largest sort of army to keep our country free of litter. But there's no need to hire anyone. It's a job we can do for ourselves. All of us. Every family that spreads a picnic lunch. Every boatman who cruises the lakes and waterways. Every motorist who uses our roads and highways.

It is the pleasure of the U. S. Brewers Association each year to give its fullest support to the Keep America Beautiful Campaign. Remember: Every Litter Bit Hurts. This is our land. Let's treat it right.

Triumphant delegate

Mrs. Fred Wagner, Hancock County's first female delegate to a national Republican convention returned home weary but triumphant Friday, after Richard Nixon's bid for the GOP nomination succeeded in the first round of balloting. Mrs. Wagner, 19 other Mississippi delegates and 20 alternates, had left for Miami pledging their support to Eisenhower's former vice-president.

Being chosen a member of the resolutions committee had advantages and disadvantages. Our Hancock County representative enjoyed an hour tete a tete with Art Linkletter of radio and television fame, as the guest of Hawaii's Senator Faun and his aide, following the huge pre-convention gala at the Fountainbleau on Sunday night.

Wolcott, Garner tops bridge play

Winners of games played by Bay-Waveland Bridge Club members last Thursday were Mrs. Wally Wolcott and Mrs. T.J. Garner, first; Mr. and Mrs. Lelyn Nybo, second and Mrs. Mildred Means and Ronald Kilman, third.

Misses Caruso, Schmidt feted

Beth Schmidt, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank L. Schmidt of Pass Christian and Margaret Caruso, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Caruso, celebrated their fourth birthdays, with a joint party Saturday at the Caruso home in Waveland. A Cinderella theme and pink and white colors were used. Lunch, birthday cake and ice cream were served to their 35 friends who helped celebrate the occasion.

Cynthia Willett is christened

Cynthia Marie Willett, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S.R. Willett, Jr., was christened Sunday at Christ Episcopal Church with Rev. Charles R. Johnson, pastor, officiating. Godparents were a paternal aunt Mrs. E.J. Hodges of Little Rock, Ark.; and a maternal uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stanford, Jr. of St. Petersburg, Fla. Lisa and Clay.

before real business at hand got underway the following day.

Also on the advance program was a breakfast hosted by Florida Governor Claude Kirk and the Fane and Fantasy luncheon, with Julia Moore commenting on fashions from Sak's; where Mrs. Wagner personally presented Mrs. Ronald Reagan with a hand-made Mississippi magnolia. Also was the exotic noontime meal for Cuban leaders, hosted by Castro-deposed businessman Ed Ogden, now a Natchez, Miss. resident. Rubel Phillips, '67 Republican gubernatorial hopeful, escorted her to this affair, held at the exclusive Spanish-American Club.

A 30 minute confab with Ronald Reagan; chats with Sen. Everett Dirksen and statesman of varying degrees of prominence, will also be happy memories—but the first three hours spent beneath scorching lights for television cameras, reminded her of the heat of the sun at breezeless high noon, on a humid August day in Bay St. Louis. Fortunately, committeemen were allowed to move to arier seats in Convention Hall for the remainder of their lengthy business sessions. Committee matters also caused Mrs. Wagner to miss the Biscayne Bay cruise of Millionaires' Row, during which she would have become acquainted with Nixon's brother, here-tofore so little publicized, that few were aware of his existence.

The schedule of caucuses, discussions, platform programs, and the like, lasting from 9:00 a.m. until, on occasion, the wee hours of the morning, broken only by fried meal periods; parties, banquets, etc., was an experience never to be forgotten, but so completely overwhelming that our delegate said: "If I could remember everything I heard I'd have to be the best informed woman in the county."

This is only a brief report of what occupied Mrs. Wagner's ten day Miami sojourn; but space permits no more except the mention of what will no doubt be her most prized memento in years to come. The personal letter of appreciation from the presidential candidate which was awaiting her when she reached her Ballentine St. home, for a happy reunion with her husband Fred and children Lisa and Clay.

MR. AND MRS. RAY BARADELL, REV. TAPPE

Miss Katherine Louise Maskew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Maskew of Gulfport and Donald Ray Baradell, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Baradell of Orange Grove were married at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 6, at First Baptist Church in Orange Grove. Rev. J. Tappe performed the ceremony.

The bride is the great granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Maskew of 508 Nicholson Ave., Waveland.

MG machines save 'dead' man

A modern medical miracle performed Sunday by a Hancock County Hospital staff physician made possible only by last year's purchase of three phase saving heart machine.

The device was pressed into action when a 56 year old New Orleans cardiac patient was brought in suffering from acute heart waves, meaning that his heart was literally running away from itself; then shock followed by defibrillation.

A hasty three-way phone consultation with specialists in New Orleans and Gulfport revealed that only a machine equipped with monitor, defibrillator (sp. . . ?) and pacemaker could save the victim. Both specialists were amazed that a small hospital had the needed equipment on hand.

The patient was administered required treatment, taken the monitor Tuesday morning and on Tuesday afternoon, his physician that he was doing "just great".

Three others were also saved from almost certain death by prompt action.

Twelve year old Willie Carter, son of Mrs. Lulu Carter of Sterbrook St., was pulled in the water at the end of an island pier Saturday afternoon, and thought to have been revived by resuscitation. The child collapsed as he was leaving the pier, was given oxygen by Civil Defense Director Glen Kidd and rushed to Hancock General where sea water was removed from his lungs and mach. He is reported to have completely recovered.

Two more arrested on narcotics charges

Crackdown on narcotics violations by Hancock County Sheriff Fred Curet and deputies continued as two Mobile men were arrested on U.S. 90 at 10:35 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 10. ### Pair caught in L'il Gen'l

Two Florida men were arrested early Sunday and charged with breaking and entering the often robbed L'il General Store on U.S. 90.

Residents called city patrolmen Jimmy Favre and William Tate after hearing pounding sounds at the rear of the building. The officers discovered the back door broken and summoned Chief Lathon Garriga.

Garriga notified a district manager of the company, and upon his arrival about an hour after the attempted theft was discovered at 2:30 a.m., John Whittaker, 21, and Steve Williams, 24, both of Key West Florida, were found hiding on top of frozen food boxes.

Upon questioning at Hancock County Courthouse, Williams confessed to having a previous criminal record. Both were bound over to the grand jury by the hospital for medical aid. Both officers reported trouble with uncooperative drivers refusing to yield right-of-way when they sounded sirens indicating they were operating under emergency conditions.

Disposition of the case of two very young arsonists, aged six and eight, awaits final estimates of fire damages to Bobby Ann Bakery warehouse and a Globe Laundry truck, parked at Fred Hoagland Ford Sales.

The culprits were apprehended by Earl Ladner after he smelled smoke and heard the sound of their attempted disappearance in nearby undergrowth.

A 12-year old also faces hearing in youth court on charges of theft of a gun from Conrad Sick's Nursery.

Interested industries' names cause executive session

What promised to be a routine meeting of the Port and Harbor Commission Thursday in the Gulf National Bank building, ended on a surprise note when members voted to go into executive session at 9 p.m. The meeting began at 7:30 p.m.

However, a spokesman for the commission said Monday that the closed-door session was merely a discussion involving various industries whose officials felt they would rather not have their names made public at this time. "The matter will be discussed in detail at a future public meeting," he said.

During the public portion of the meeting most of the time was occupied with pros and cons as to using the resident inspector already on the site and employed by William Baker, Jr., Inc., consulting engineers for the airport construction, to inspect construction of the access road. W.S. Goldman, local civil engineer, made preliminary plans for the road and submitted a proposed contract for the balance of the engineering work.

Cecil E. Palmer, assistant vice-president of the Baker Corp., said his firm would agree to allowing the resident inspector to assume the additional duties of the road inspection, but appeared doubtful whether the Federal Aviation Agency would approve. "This is an unusual situation," he said, adding that he didn't think any other firm would agree to such an arrangement and during the ensuing discussion, again reminded members of the FAA regulations.

In clarifying his position, Goldman said the proposal was okay with him provided the Baker inspector met with his approval. "Otherwise I will inform you in writing as I then could not be held responsible," Goldman said.

This drew a remark from Augustus Elmer, Jr., who said "you are not responsible anyway." Goldman replied that an engineer serves as a "sort of referee between the contractor and owner," which brought forth several remarks.

Goldman then said that perhaps referee was not the proper term. "The engineer represents the owner, of course, but he also has an obligation to see that the work is properly carried out, and could not perjure himself in court should the occasion arise."

Gerald Gex, one of the commission's attorneys, remarked that if an attorney has a client, he is on his side, to which Goldman replied he did not intend to argue with a learned lawyer but W'land... (Cont. from Page 1.) these animals, and could cause lockjaw if stepped on by anyone who has a punctured wound. The fluoridation question is to be submitted to the state engineer for feasibility study, and the board of supervisors ruled that no horseback riders be allowed on the beach, at a July session.

The need for an expanded land use map including the annexed areas again arose. Donald Landry, planning and zoning committee head, will be asked to attend the next meeting for consultation on the subject.

Ladner, with approval of the board, appointed John Auderer, dental laboratory owner, prominent in civic and church activities, as chairman of Waveland's Bay Mississippi Products committee.

felt obligated to see fairness on each side.

Attorney Mike Haas suggested a resolution be adopted agreeing to Goldman's contract, subject to study and approval by the commission's attorneys, to which members agreed.

Meanwhile port director Charles Hill had remarked he didn't think the proposal was unusual -- that you could stand on one spot and see the whole project including the road. "When we built LSUNO the LSU board hired three inspectors for eight projects of about two or three million dollars each. I was in charge of the chemical department building project and we also had a different architect," Hill commented, adding he thought he could inspect the road project in about 20 minutes a day.

Members approved all current bills except one of $1,500 from the Baker company involving services for preparation of regulations report covering zoning regulations, restrictive covenants, etc. This bill was held over for further study.

The motion for an executive session was made by Elmer and seconded by Oliver Frierson. Following the session members agreed to meet the following Thursday, Aug. 15, to secure the results of the petition scheduled to be submitted to the board of supervisors Wednesday asking for a public vote on the proposed 2.6 million dollar bond issue for the second phase of the county's jet-age airport, port and harbor facilities.

Port, harbor... (Cont. from Page 1.) and a motion was made to express sympathy to the family. Motion was also approved to express gratitude to the people of the county, for their show of confidence in the board in the matter of port and harbor bonds.

Beat 4 Supervisor Dolph Kellar was also congratulated upon his election to the state board of supervisors as a member-at-large at the convention held last Sunday and Monday in Biloxi.

Motion to issue a proclamation noting the selection of Sherry Dean as best defensive girl basketball player in the state at the All-Star tournament in Jackson Aug. 3, was also unanimously approved.

Waterway problems in Pearl River too

Fishermen and sportsmen in Picayune are up in arms over the recent arrest of two men fishing in the Hobolochitto Creek a short distance from the Highway 48 bridge.

The men, David Gordon and Mansfield Downs, were charged with trespassing on property owned by Crosby Chemicals, R.H. Crosby and Virginia Ethel Crosby, but the pair contended they put their boat into the water from the highway right-of-way property and did not touch the banks of the creek at any other point.

Officials said the charges were dropped in JP court and refilled in Chancery Court, but last week a cross-bill was filed by the pair plus five additional men, who had been summoned to appear in Pearl River Chancery Court to answer suit by the Crosbys seeking to enjoin them from trespassing.

The cross-bill asks the court to enjoin the Crosbys from allowing poisonous waste from Crosby Chemicals, Inc., to enter the Hobolochitto Creek, from interfering with citizens traversing or fishing in the creek in boats, and from blocking the creek with a dam.

The Pearl River County Fish and Game Conservation Club is asking similar clubs for money to help fight the case, saying if the Crosbys win, any stream of like size could be closed by bank land owners.

Now your county

Progress in any community is as much on ability of the county as it does on the dollar taxes pay for their services. Among most pertinent topics is proposed regrading of the highway department, rebuilding flood damaged roads and supervising paving. He returned to Alabama where he was project engineer in highway construction in Mobile.

During the depression he briefly took advantage of his first experience working as a grocery store clerk, then became a member of the Louisiana road plans design department.

His first job in Mississippi was as right-of-way appraiser, and in 1940 he became a member of the city engineering department in Jackson. The position of civil engineer with the Corps of Engineers in Mobile, Ala. followed and he worked out of the area engineer's office in Gulfport.

His son A.J. (Jack) Rogers, Jr. and his wife have children and live in Gulfport. He is with NASA at Mississippi Test Facility where he is engineer of the facility element branch.

Mr. Rogers, Sr. are members of First Baptist Church, are affiliated with Chapter 51, Order of the Eastern Star and he is a Mason.

He was a charter member of the Gulfport Yacht and Little Theater and has been in many plays with the group.

World War I interfered with plans to attend medical school; but the Armistice was before he was pressed overseas duty. He found his job in a grocery store in Birmingham in 1917, after he accepted positions with the company in Birmingham and way department, rebuilding flood damaged roads and supervising paving. He returned to Alabama where he was project engineer in highway construction in Mobile.

Terrill Manieri, a native of Bay St. Louis employed by New Orleans Police Department as a detective, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident last Wednesday, is reported to be showing some improvement.

Manieri was driver of the car in which two fellow policemen were killed in a head-on collision. Driver of the other vehicle, a log truck, was charged with negligent homicide in the mishap, which occurred 13 miles north of Natchitoches, La. as the officers were returning to the Crescent City from a police convention.

He was moved Wednesday by ambulance to a Natchitoches Hospital to Baptist Hospital in New Orleans.

I have been seeing all the pictures of people buying cars and trucks from Lamar-Lane Chevrolet in the newspaper. So, I figured there must be a reason for that. And when I was ready for a good used wagon I went to Lamar-Lane and Fritz Peranch showed me a wagon I liked and also gave me a good deal.

Polly Peers

Guess this is as good a way as any to apologize for neglecting to mention that we were going on a brief vacation a couple of weeks ago and this was the reason, and the only reason, the column did not appear in the Aug. 1, issue. This, combined with the fact that the sale of the Echo was announced that week, led many to conclude that Polly Peers might be patterning down the well worn path to the unemployment office. At least, at present, this is not the case. We're still very much around; so please continue calling in and writing bits of news. As we've taken on a few extra duties, more or less temporarily, (we hope), for the next week or so, it would be very helpful if anyone calling is told we're out of the office, will simply give the facts to whomever happens to answer the phone. Please leave your phone number in case more details are needed.

Lively luau

Bring your Wahine to Our Grass Hut is the wording on invitations to the big Hawaiian luau coming up at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club Saturday night. Aloha cocktails will be served from 7 till 8 p.m., and the 8 o'clock dinner will be followed by dancing to Vera Nichols and her Pennies at 9. All for only $3.50 "pineapple" Just so no one is misled, wahine is a member of the female sex, Leroy McFarland, the world's most glamorous one-time skitter, is our authority on the subject.

Sheriffs celebrate

The Honorable John Bell Williams celebrated ending of the longest legislative session in history -- or at least, it so appeared to him and members of both houses -- by making his long anticipated visit to the coast. The occasion was the State Sheriff's Association banquet held in the Hurricane Room of the Buena Vista hotel last Thursday night. The governor signed into effect a bill allowing sheriffs to succeed themselves before the happy eyes of law enforcement officers, wives and some specially invited guests. The local delegation invited by Sheriff Fred Curet and wife Ruth included: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cuevas, Charlie Russ came, stage-Nancy being out of town that night -- as did Walter James Phillips. Also Messrs. Martin Smith, Joe Cuevas, Lee Klein, Glenn Dorr, Eddie Lacoste, your reporter and brother Tom Lyons, who had driven down from Franklin the previous night.

He, incidentally, was accompanied to Waveland by his lovely wife Maria, equally lovely eight-year-old daughter Mary and a most sophisticated Chihuahua, Bobo.

Virginia's home

Virginia (Mrs. Fred) Wagner had so many interesting experiences in Miami as a delegate to the Republican Convention that it will appear as a feature elsewhere in the Echo. However, impressed though she was by Nixon's cordiality and other sterling traits of character; Ronnie Reagan's charm and youthful appearance; personalities of other statesmen; the one thing that she found most fascinating and mysterious was Sen. Dirksen's ability to remain in the same chair, without once rising from it for any purpose, for periods of up to 12 whole hours! She arrived home laden with souvenirs, selecting adorable gold elephant pins sans any mention of the GOP to give friends who haven't seen the light as yet, and still support what she refers to delicately as 'the other party'!

Inez (Mrs. Charles) Bouls writes from her new home in Alexandria, Va., that 'Grandpa' Bouls faithfully mails her home town paper each week, just as he had done through all of the years she and husband Major Equis have traveled in the service. She adds they would have to become subscribers if he weren't so dependable, as she says, quote: 'The Echo and Hancock County people go together just like red beans and rice'.

She went on to report that once they'd moved in and finished unpacking, a terrific case of homesickness struck the family. Imagine their delight when a shiny white sports car drove up and out hopped her sister Marcella Garcia, daughters Gail and Susan, and one of her closest friends Helen Cuevas with children Ricky and Betty. The house and visitors proceeded to take in points of interest including Larry Cuevas, Arlington Memorial Cemetery, White House, Capitol, etc. Marcella expressed a bit disappointed as the president was unfortunately quite busy, therefore unable to pose for a picture with her. As bait for her bruised ego, Charles wired and dined the three ladies at the elaborate new Cameron Officers Club.

Beach visitors

Betty and C.D. Dube and daughter Jolyn of Garyville, La., recently vacationed at Ann and Nick Carabjal's beach cottage. With them were Betty's parents Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hymel and a niece Mary Dube. The girls built fires, and enjoyed wiener and marshmallow roasts on the beach. They all had a wonderful week.

Picayune's 1968 Paving Program Resumed; 11½ Miles Scheduled

Picayune's unique pay - as - go and do - it - yourself black-topping program for city streets began its third year of operation Wednesday on South Beach street and in the negro residential area on the west side, and if all goes well the city will modernize 11½ miles of streets before this year's money runs out or wet weather stops work. During the first year's operation the city-owned paving plant finished 6½ miles of street and in 1967 a total of 2½ miles were fixed, a limited performance due to shortage of funds.

The City of Picayune has 64 miles of streets at present, of which 60 miles lie in the city and not in subdivisions, and are subject therefore to maintenance and improvement.

The blacktopping program began in 1965 with purchase of the paving equipment and is expected to be finished in 1971 on present plans.

Men make up a paving crew with an asphalt plant operator, three truck drivers, one man operating the roller and four men operating the spreader. The seasonal performance is based strictly on how much money is available for the street paving program that year.

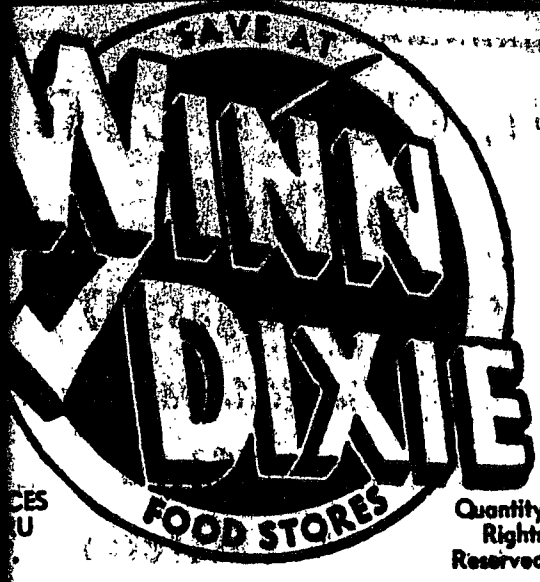

If the program continues work as it has the most important aspects to be completely modernizing streets in the city and keep up maintenance and out equipment and funds are budgeted each year.

So sorry

Our apologies to Althea (Jack) Brown for the delay in correcting the write-up about big surprise birthday party last month. It was given by her husband, son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Choly; her son Allen L. Decker and her grandchildren Debi, Billy and Mike. Winning prizes in games for adults present were her mother Mrs. A. N. Calhoun, Sr.; Mrs. Pat Bourgeois and Paul Mansfield. Others singing Happy Birthday as Althea cut the beautiful green cake were Mr. Calhoun, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Calhoun, Jr., and son; Mr. and Mrs. Roger H. Calhoun, Marie and Connie Calhoun, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yax and children. Also Messrs. and Meses, Alvin McGathy, Paul E. Mansfield, P. J. Collier, Melvin Burge, Roger Davis, Frank Taconi, A. G. Thomas, Shirley Turcotte, and Alcine Saucier. Most were accompanied by their children and all enjoyed the affair as much as did the honoree.

ANIMAL NOTES

Cleo Bradley cut her fifth birthday cake, adorned with an icing puppy of course, on Tuesday, Aug. 13. Her "mother" Marcella invited a few human and canine acquaintances in for the occasion.

Flora and Alden Mauffray were walking on air the past two weeks—their "children," son Larry, wife Julie and children flew in from Muncie, Ind. for their annual vacation visit.

Hope you're feeling better Kathleen Quintini (she's Maggie and John Damborino's and the Frank Quintini's, Sr. five year-old granddaughter) who fractured her collarbone Monday while playing "ring around the rosie" with a group of her little Carroll Ave. friends.

Mr. J. N. Benvenutti is again hospitalized, having been admitted to Hancock General Sunday afternoon.

Bob Torgersen was a pneumonia victim for several days last week, but was back on the job before your "alert" reporter was aware of his illness. Jean (Mrs. Gordon) Gleim selected some fabulous gifts for Sunshines, when she took in the big show in New Orleans the weekend of Aug. 4th.

The furniture mart, also in the Crescent City, was Jackie (Mrs. Guy) Bufkin's destination last Sunday. She says some of the new tables, sofas, etc., are so beautifully styled that she just bought, and bought and bought.

Elaine Kelly and Susie Lührson arrived home from Las Vegas with lovely souvenirs for all of their hometown friends, vowing they'll need a month to catch up on lost sleep.

Miss Reimke honored at pre-nuptial shower

Miss Reimke, who chose a yellow tulle dress for the occasion, was presented a green cyanochrome orchid corsage. The mothers, Mrs. R. J. Reimke and Mrs. Orea Casvas, and the grandmother, Mrs. Betty Reimke, were each given a corsage of white rose buds.

Games were played and prizes won by Mrs. Casvas.

Lana Taylor, Alan Noonan, Judy and Mickey Cooksey and Bob Fernandez couldn't bear the thought of some close friends out-doing them cruise wise. Lana and her buddies took their own cruise on the African Queen no less, and they enjoyed a luxurious island vacation, on Cat Island, that is, last Sunday.

Hot stuff

Mexican food lovers will be happy to learn that we now have a source of supply right here in Hancock County. Green Acres, located just off Ansley Road, near the Red Barn Lounge, is owned and operated by Chiquita and Glen Kamuf. It's a most attractive and comfortable restaurant and they also serve steak and the usual menu for non-pepper-loving patrons.

Fran and Urban Stork hosted an open house Sunday honoring their house guests, Joanne and Alvin Levy of Evansville, Ind. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Haas, II, and son John, III, of New Orleans and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garden of Shelbyville, Ind.; who were visiting Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Spindler in their Nicholson Ave. home. The Levys and 12 year old daughter Gina are certain that they will return in January, as Gina says "once you see the moon upon the Gulf Coast waters, you feel you must return."

Dr. Stork and Fran had as Monday visitors Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Howell and son Peter of Hattiesburg.

Another big weekend affair was the official opening of John Auderer's new dental lab in Baton Rouge. Some who drove for the two day party and admired the profusion of congratulatory flowers and plants and champagne included Margie Auderer, Kitty and Ollo Molere, Sterling Balaski, Linda and Tommy Kidd and Helen and Alfred Serio.

Kitty and Ollo took the children, Gall, Ollo, Paul and Mark and Ann Lynch along for the trip, and Ollo managed to take in a pistol match while in the Capital City.

Kennedy named top sailor after 'last ditch' fight

It was a fight right down to the last horn in the final race at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club last weekend, but Basil Kennedy of Waveland emerged crowing as 'cock of the walk' -- and he has the chest to do it.
 The award is given each year to the leading expert sailor of the season which ended
 Sunday but Harry Chapman tied Basil, in points, each averaging 942 for the season. However, the award went to Kennedy who defeated Chapman once.
 Third place went to Judy Reeves, who also won the Bay-Bourbon trophy for outstanding skipperette.

Awards were made after Sunday's races by Commodore
 Ray Gordon and, although probably more important trophies were given, Little Don Coffey stole the show when he received the Breath award for top junior skipper. The cup was larger than the skipper but he made the most of the situation and carried it off like a vaudeville star, amid a burst of applause. Don's name will be inscribed on the trophy, donated by his grandfather, Charles A. Breath, Jr.

In other competition Mrs.
 Ray Stiefel won first place in class A division and defeated her son Woody by one point in average for the season.
 Six top expert sailors were named to the Lipton team and will compete with other coastal clubs for the coveted cup. They are Basil Kennedy, Harry Chapman, Judy Reeves, Ray Stiefel, Norman Lamb and Jack Gordon.
 The first series of 12 races is slated for BWYC Saturday and Sunday; the second at Pass
 Christian Yacht Club on Aug.
 24-25. Skippers and crews are asked to meet at the club at 9 a.m. Saturday for instruction and drawing of boats for this weekend's Lipton races.

Race committee chairman,
 Mrs. Richard E. (Jean) Reeves, announced that Ann Stiefel was promoted from class A to expert class.
 Weekend results were:
 Reeves and David Gallaspy; Strat Poindexter with Steve and Greg Poindexter; Quia Eagan with Woody Stiefel and Marc
